Table of Contents

List of Illustrations……...……...……...VII
List of Abbreviations ……...……...……VIII
Acknowledgements……...……...……..……..IX

PART I - INTRODUCTION……..1

1. Introduction of the study
Background of the Study, Basic Assumptions, Problem Statement, Purpose of the Study, Significance of the Study, Questions Guiding the Study, Structure of the Study, Limitations of the Study, Delimitations, Research Methodology…..1

PART II - HAPPINESS CONCEPTS IN DIFFERENT CONTEXTS……..……..….9

2. General Issues regarding Happiness....……9
2.1. Humanity in Search of Happiness…....……...9
2.2. Different Types of Happiness……....13
2.2.1. Luck…..……...……..……..……14
2.2.2. Pleasure/Wellbeing ...……..……..……15
2.2.3. Genuine Happiness/Fulfillment…..…...……..……15
2.3. Etymological Derivation……..…...……..……..……16
2.4. Terms related to Happiness……...……16

3. Historical Approaches to Happiness ……..……17
3.1. European Concepts of Happiness……..……17
3.1.1. Ancient Philosophies……...……17
Classic View of Happiness (Socrates, Plato,Aristotle)…..…….18
Hellenist View to Happiness (Stoa, Epicure, Pyrrhon)…….……21
3.1.2. Post-Ancient Philosophies…….……..……..…24
3.2. Asian Concepts of Happiness..……...34
3.2.1. Chinese Concepts of Happiness…….34
Teachings of Confucianism (Confucius, Mencius)……...35
Concept of Taoism (Chuang Zi, Ge Hong)……..……..…37
Chinese Hedonism (Yang Zhu)……...……..40
3.2.2. Indian Approaches to Happiness……..…..……41
Principles of Ayurveda……..……41
Yoga Concept…….……...42
Hindu-Tantrism and Happiness…….…42
Lakshmi, the Goddess of Happiness…….....44
Teachings of Ramakrishna……..…..44
3.2.3. Arabic Views to Happiness……..…45

Al-Farabi (Abu Nasr), Al-Ghazali, Dschalal ad-Din ar-Rumi…..46
Movement of Sufism…….……47

4. Contemporary Views of Happiness…….…….……..48
4.1. Happiness-related Issues in the Thai Cultural Context……...……...48
4.1.1. Introductory Remarks……....48
4.1.2. Social Structure…..……...……...48
4.1.3. State-Individual Relationship……..……..…51
4.1.4. Struggles for Local Power and Resources……..……...……54
4.1.5. Religious Activities in the Society……..……...…58
4.1.6. Family Life…….…….…….……60
4.1.7. Societal Value System.…..…….……69
4.1.8. Linguistic View of Happiness…..…….……78
4.2. Happiness in a Religious Context……..……..84
4.2.1.Happiness and Buddhism…….……...…84
Nature of Buddhism……...85
Essential Buddhist Teachings…….....87
4.2.2. Happiness and Christianity……,……...98
Augustine (354 - 430)…….……..…99
Thomas Aquinas (1225 - 1274)…..……...99
Martin Luther (1483 - 1546)…...…..……..…..100
4.2.3. Comparison of Buddhist and Christian View to Happiness…....100
4.3. Happiness in a Western Philosophical Context…….……101
4.3.1. General Considerations…..……...……...101
4.3.2. Malte Hossenfelder: the Harmony of Purpose……...……103
4.3.3. Martin Seel: the Right of an Unrestricted Encounter of the World…....……..……...……...104
4.3.4. Karl Heinz Bohrer: Transitoriness and Discontinuity of the Experience of Happiness ……...…..…...106
4.3.5. Wilhelm Schmid: Art of Life as the Aesthetics of Existence.....106
4.3.6. Theories of the Good Life……...……110
4.4. Happiness and Psychology……..……112
4.4.1. Introduction……...……..112
4.4.2. Happiness - Trait or State? …….……113
4.4.3. Happiness Set Point / Set Range Theory…….……114
4.4.4. Determinants of Happiness……..114
4.4.5. Dimensions of Happiness…….....……117
4.4.6. Law of Happiness……....…118
4.4.7. Signature-Strengths……..119
4.4.8. Happiness and Autonomy……119
4.4.9. Keys to Happiness: Pleasure, Enjoyment, Flow……...……...121
4.4.10. Happiness Barriers: Adaptation, Social Comparison……....….130

4.4.11. Happiness and Personality……133
4.4.12. Happiness-Boosting Strategies……138
4.5. Happiness and Neuroscience……141
4.5.1. Plasticity of the Human Brain……141
4.5.2. Findings related to Education……143
4.5.3. Controversial Views to the Generation of Happiness……148
4.6. Happiness in the Context of Education……151
4.6.1. Interrelationship between Happiness and Education……151
4.6.2. Happiness in Childhood and Adolescence……153
Early Formation of Happiness……153
Embodiment: an Interaction of Body and Psyche……156
Behavior Modification……159
4.6.3. Educational Approaches to Happiness……160
Considerations by Noddings……160
Capability Approach (CA) ……166
Self-Determination Theory (SDT)……176
Mindfulness, Meditation and Mental Balance……179
4.6.4. Closing Remarks……184
4.7. Methodology of International Happiness Research……186
4.7.1. Subjective and Objective Approaches……186
4.7.2. Limitations of the Approaches……191
General Objections……191
Constraints of the Subjective Approach……192
Limitations of the Objective Approach……196
Problems of the Combined Approach……198
4.7.3. Additional Reflections……198

5. Concluding Considerations……199
5.1. Happiness in General and in the Thai Context……200
5.2. Happiness with Regard to Education……204

PART III - ANALYSIS OF THE THAI EDUCATION SYSTEM……207

6. General Features of the Thai Formal Education System……207
6.1. Introductory Remarks……207
6.2. Development of the Thai Education System ……208
6.2.1. Historical Background (1300-2010)……208
Early Education……208
First Reforms by the Chakri Kings (1782 - 1910)……209
Reform of the Education System (1910 - Present)……210
Political Era of Thai Education (1900 - 1962)……211

Economic Era of Thai Education (1963 - Present)……..212
6.2.2 Recent Regulations and Future Plans……....213
6.3. Political Traditions and Philosophical Foundations in Thai Education…….215
6.3.1. Influence of Political Traditions……..……215
Tradition of the "Strong State"…….……...……215
Tradition of the "Strong Society"……216
6.3.2. Philosophical Foundation of Recent Thai Education……..……218
Principles of Perennialism……...……219
Principles of Postmodernism…..……219
Reform Agreement……..221
Buddhist View to Education ……...222
Principles of the Sufficiency Economy……...228
6.4. Overall Goals of the Thai Education System……....232
6.4.1. Overview of General Stated Aims and Objectives……..232
6.4.2. Revised Education Policy 2008……...…237
6.5. Structure of Educational Administration……...240
6.5.1. General Structure……..……...…240
6.5.2. Decentralization……...……242
6.6. Types and Levels of Thai Education……...……243
6.6.1. Types of Education……...…243
6.6.2. Levels of Education…….……244
6.7. Background and Design of the Curriculum……...247
6.7.1 General Background…….....…247
6.7.2 Core Curriculum…….……251
6.7.3 Local Curriculum……254
6.8. Academic School Year……...255
6.9. Situation and Training of Teachers……...……..…...256
6.9.1. Number, Distribution, and Qualifications of Teachers……..….256
6.9.2. Teacher Training and Development……....257
Teacher Training Institutes……..257
Reform Efforts 2004……...258
Conditions of Admission……259
Teacher Training for Different Levels……...…..260
6.10. Teaching and Learning Process……260
6.11. Education Budget and Investment……...……264

7. Specific Educational Situation in the Public Upper Secondary School System.....265
7.1. General Overview of the Upper Secondary Level……...265
7.1.1. Structure and Main Characteristics……...……265
7.1.2. Educational Profile on Students, Teachers, and Schools…….269

7.2. Upper Secondary Curriculum (General Stream)……..275
7.2.1. Social Studies, Religion, and Culture……..276
Official Decrees……...276
7.2.2. Religion, Moral and Ethics…….....277
Official Decrees……...277
Realization of Buddhist Principles in a Special Thai School Project…….……280
7.2.3. Health and Physical Education……284
Official Decrees……...……284
Expected Competencies……...…286
7.3. Characteristics and Atmosphere of the Learn Setting ……..…287
7.3.1. Physical Environmental Conditions……...287
7.3.2. Social Environmental Conditions…….……...288
Position and Interactions of Teachers…….……288
Position and Interactions of Students……..…….……...…291
7.3.3. Run of a Typical School Day ……..……...…295

PART IV - CRITERIA FOR MEASURING HAPPINESS IN EDUCATION SYSTEMS…….……299

8. Evaluation of Conditions of Happiness in Education Systems…....……299
8.1. General Considerations……299
8.2. A Workable Definition of Happiness within Education Systems…301
8.3. Different Approaches to Evaluating Conditions of Happiness in Education Systems…….…….303
8.3.1. The Happiness Yardstick and Selected Components……...…304
Happiness is Growth.…….……..304
Happiness is Balance……...307
Happiness is Movement.…….……309
Happiness is about Relationships…….....……..311
Happiness is the Proper Use of Freedom……..……315
8.3.2. Trend Analysis……..……...317
8.3.3. Investigation of Happiness-Promoting and -Impeding factors....317

PART V - QUEST FOR HAPPINESS IN THE THAI EDUCATION SYSTEM……...……319

9. Typical Application of Happiness Measures to the Thai Public Upper Secondary School……..……319
9.1. Components of the Happiness Yardstick ……..……319
9.1.1. Opportunities for the Realization of Personal Growth……319
9.1.2. Attention to Different Balances……...323

9.1.3. Empowerment of Various Forms of Movement...……..……327
9.1.4. Realization of Relationships…….....…329
Relationship to Oneself……...329
Relationship with Parents……...…….330
Relationship with Peers……...…330
Relationship with Teachers……..…331
Relationships between the Generations……...332
Relationship with Nature…….333
Spiritual Relations……...334
9.1.5. Development of Freedom……335
9.2. Decisive Major Educational Trends in the System……...……339
9.2.1. Development towards an Education Market…...……339
9.2.2. Knowledge-Diploma Dilemma ……..…340
9.2.3. Policy of Educational Administration ……344
9.3. Principal Factors Influencing Happiness in the Thai Education System ……..……..……..…….348
9.3.1. Happiness-Promoting Factors ……348
Personal Characteristics……..348
Positive Relationships…….348
Acquaintance with Philosophical/Spiritual Concepts…….349
Absence from a Range of Pressures……...351
9.3.2. Happiness-Impeding Factors…….....…….351
System-Inherent Shortcomings……..……..…351
Unfavorable Conditions for the Students' Self-Cultivation……354
Unpropitious Trends in the Society…..…….…….356
9.4. Concluding Considerations of Conditions for Happiness in the Thai Public Education System……..……357

PART VI - FINAL REMARKS…….…….…….…..……359

10. Happiness Issues in the Thai and General Education Systems……....359
10.1. Conditions for Happiness in Thai Youth……..…….....359
10.2. Prospects for a Happiness-Promoting Education……...……363

11. Reference List ……..367