1 Introduction.....	1
1.1 Oblivion of PI and the right to be forgotten.....	7
1.2 Traditional privacy: secrecy and control of PI.....	9
1.2.1 Privacy as secrecy and data minimization	9
1.2.2 Privacy as control of retained PI	11
1.3 Challenging secrecy and control of PI.....	12
1.4 A third route: temporal contextual integrity of PI	15
1.4.1 Missing overview of temporal boundary technologies	17
1.4.2 Lacking design alternatives.....	17
1.4.3 Social benefits of PI's temporal contextual integrity.....	18
1.5 Overview of the research methods.....	19
1.6 Contributions.....	21
1.7 Outline.....	22
2 A theoretical framework of privacy as temporal contextual integrity ...	27
2.1 Contextual integrity of retained PI and justice	28
2.1.1 Purpose limitation principle and contextual integrity	28
2.1.2 Spheres of justice for retained PI	30
2.1.3 Separating different episodes of a person's life	32
2.2 The philosophy of time for retained PI.....	33
2.2.1 Dependence of events and time.....	34
2.2.2 Relation to human time	36
2.2.3 Time order	37
2.2.4 Flow of time	38
2.2.5 Dimensional features of time	39
2.2.6 Existence of entities in time	40
2.2.7 Topology of time.....	40
2.3 Basic axioms of temporal contextual integrity	41
2.3.1 Axiom 1: People are constantly changing.....	42
2.3.2 Axiom 2: People have a privacy interest in public PI.....	45
2.3.3 Axiom 3: No areas of life are not governed by informational norms	46
2.4 Preserving privacy by PI's temporal contextual integrity	47
2.4.1 Personal information	47
2.4.2 Actors	49
2.4.3 Context	50
2.4.3.1 Temporal context.....	51
2.4.3.2 Today's reinterpretation of historic temporal contexts	52
2.4.4 Conditions for PI's temporal contextual integrity.....	53
2.4.4.1 Preventing distortion with association and visibility of temporal	54
context

2.4.4.1.1	Association of temporal context.....	57
2.4.4.1.2	Visibility of temporal context.....	58
2.4.4.2	Preventing unexpected future disclosure by norms of being forgotten 61
2.4.4.2.1	Norms of temporal appropriateness.....	63
2.4.4.2.2	Norms of temporal distribution	66
2.4.4.3	Overview of the integrity conditions.....	66
2.4.5	Maintaining the integrity conditions by drawing temporal boundaries.....	67
2.4.6	Constituting relationships of PI's temporal contextual integrity	69
2.4.7	Temporal contextual integrity's inseparability from contextual integrity.....	71
2.5	Tensions of PI's temporal contextual integrity with privacy.....	72
2.5.1	Disclosure of temporal details with higher granularity.....	72
2.5.2	Increased accessibility to recently retained PI	74
2.5.3	Reconciling transparency with privacy.....	76
2.6	Pragmatic uses of the framework.....	77
2.6.1	Explanation and evaluation	78
2.6.2	Normative guidance and justification	81
2.6.3	Pragmatic prescription for information system design	85
3	Review of technologies for drawing temporal boundaries on the web... 89
3.1	Related work	91
3.2	Needs for drawing temporal boundaries in online services	93
3.2.1	Method	93
3.2.2	A phase view on information subjects' needs for drawing temporal boundaries within online services.....	96
3.2.2.1	A need for oblivion due to privacy concerns	97
3.2.2.2	A desire for control over the oblivion of PI	98
3.2.2.3	A need for dissociation from obsolete PI	98
3.2.3	Requirements for temporal boundary technologies	99
3.3	Temporal boundary technologies in the services.....	101
3.3.1	Method	101
3.3.2	Temporal boundary technologies.....	103
3.3.2.1	Access boundaries	103
3.3.2.2	Visible boundaries	107
3.3.3	Do deployed technologies satisfy information subjects' oblivion needs? 108
3.4	Discussion	109
4	Designing temporal interface signs for drawing visible temporal boundaries..... 113
4.1	The current state of temporal interface signs in user interfaces	114
4.1.1	Related work	119
4.1.2	The semiotics of temporal interface signs.....	121
4.2	Exploring the design space	123
4.2.1	User focus groups.....	124
4.2.1.1	Method.....	124

4.2.1.2	Focus group results.....	126
4.2.2	Expert consultations	129
4.2.2.1	Method.....	129
4.2.2.2	Expert consultation results	130
4.3	A catalog of temporal interface signs	136
4.3.1	Temporal indices of PI’s temporal context	140
4.3.2	Temporal symbols of PI’s temporal context	143
4.4	Implementing temporal interface signs into a prototype SNS interface 146
4.4.1	The SNS interface prototype.....	147
4.4.2	Evaluating the interface prototype with SNS users	151
4.4.2.1	Method.....	152
4.4.2.2	Results	155
4.4.2.2.1	Time presentation	156
4.4.2.2.2	Temporal interface sign “symbolic objects: textual symbols” 165
4.4.2.2.3	Temporal interface sign “display salience: size”	165
4.4.2.2.4	Temporal interface signs “screen space: vertical/horizontal” 166
4.4.2.2.5	Summary of the results	167
4.5	Discussion	167
5	Temporal contextual integrity in online recruiting	173
5.1	Applying the framework to online crowdsourcing labor markets’ reputation systems.....	174
5.1.1	The online crowdsourcing labor markets’ reputation system context 174
5.1.1.1	Online crowdsourcing labor markets	175
5.1.1.2	Online reputation systems	176
5.1.1.3	Privacy harm from distorting temporal context in reputation systems 178
5.1.2	Analyzing app designers’ privacy with temporal contextual integrity 179
5.1.2.1	Basic axioms of temporal contextual integrity.....	180
5.1.2.1.1	Axiom 1: App-designers change over time	180
5.1.2.1.2	Axiom 2: App designers have a privacy interest in their online reviews 181
5.1.2.1.3	Axiom 3: Online crowdsourcing labor market’s reputation systems are governed by informational norms	181
5.1.2.2	Applying the concepts of temporal contextual integrity	182
5.1.2.2.1	Personal information: online reviews	182
5.1.2.2.2	Actors.....	183
5.1.2.2.3	Final causes of the context	183
5.1.2.2.4	Association and visibility of reviews’ temporal context	184
5.1.2.2.5	Norms of being forgotten	184
5.1.2.2.5.1	Norms of temporal appropriateness	185
5.1.2.2.5.2	Norms of temporal distribution.....	186

5.1.2.2.6	Isolating the framework’s concepts.....	189
5.1.2.3	Do visible temporal boundaries increase conformance to social norms of being forgotten?	189
5.2	Online survey with reputation system users	191
5.2.1	Method	192
5.2.2	Norms of being forgotten	194
5.2.3	Creating review texts for app-designers’ online reputation profiles 200
5.2.3.1	Creating online reviews.....	200
5.2.3.2	Compiling the online reviews into four consistent profiles	202
5.2.4	Designing a graphical timeline interface component for online reputation systems	204
5.2.4.1	Comparing alternative temporal interface signs for displaying the temporal context of reviews	204
5.2.4.2	Evaluating the utility of timelines for representing reputation profiles	208
5.2.4.3	Building the timeline interface component based on user feedback	210
5.2.4.4	The pragmatics of drawing visible temporal boundaries	213
5.2.5	Discussion and limitations	214
5.3	An experiment on encouraging conformance to norms of being forgotten by drawing visible temporal boundaries	216
5.3.1	Visible temporal boundaries in online crowdsourcing labor markets’ reputation systems	217
5.3.2	Hypotheses	220
5.3.3	Method	225
5.3.3.1	Briefing.....	226
5.3.3.2	Scenario	227
5.3.3.3	Reputation profiles	228
5.3.3.4	Interface manipulations	234
5.3.3.5	Manipulation checks.....	238
5.3.3.6	App designer choice	239
5.3.3.7	Post-questionnaire	240
5.3.3.8	Pretesting and conducting the study	244
5.3.4	Results	245
5.3.4.1	Preparation, cleaning and demographic characteristics of the sample	245
5.3.4.2	Manipulation checks.....	248
5.3.4.3	The effect of visible temporal boundaries on norm-conformance of choice	251
5.3.4.4	Controlling for other influences on norm-conformance of choice	257
5.3.4.5	Testing for confounds with choice confidence and forgiveness	258
5.3.4.5.1	Testing for confounds with choice confidence.....	259
5.3.4.5.2	Testing for confounds with forgiveness	262

5.3.4.6	The utility of timelines for encouraging norm-conform choice	264
5.3.5	Discussion and limitations	266
6	Conclusions and future work.....	271
6.1	Safeguarding PI's temporal contextual integrity is essential for individual human development.....	272
6.2	Designing information systems wisely	275
6.3	Future research directions	280
6.3.1	Understanding norms of being forgotten	280
6.3.2	Enhancing oblivion by temporal contextual integrity.....	282
6.3.3	Promoting individuality in online representations	284
Appendices	287
Appendix A	– Analysis of user oblivion needs and temporal boundary technologies.....	287
A.1	Reliability of the user need observation analysis	287
A.2	Data sources of the analysis of temporal boundary technologies	288
Appendix B	– Focus group discussions and expert consultations	290
B.1	Fictitious Facebook post used in the focus group sessions	290
B.2	Participant answer sheet used in focus group sessions.....	291
B.3	Transcripts of focus group sessions.....	295
B.4	Demographics of focus group participants.....	306
B.5	Topic guide and examples used in expert consultations	307
B.6	Reliability assessment of the analysis	310
Appendix C	– Think-aloud evaluation of the SNS interface prototype.....	311
C.1	Structured guide used in think-aloud sessions.....	311
C.2	Questionnaire.....	314
Appendix D	– Materials of the online survey	318
D.1	Online survey questionnaire	318
D.2	Reasons for online review obsolescence	334
D.3	Pre-test results of online reviews.....	352
D.4	Reputation profiles of app designers	368
D.5	Evaluation of graphical timeline	372
Appendix E	– Materials of the experimental study	384
E.1	Guide for briefing participants in the laboratory.....	384
E.2	Online questionnaire of the experimental study.....	385
E.3	Online reputation profiles.....	407
E.4	Items of temporal awareness manipulation check.....	411
E.5	Structured guide for think aloud test of experimental study	412
E.6	Psychometric measurement model evaluation results.....	415
E.7	Linear regression results.....	420
